

INFORMATION ABOUT AUTHORS

Witold Bagiński, Ph.D., born 1980 – historian. A graduate of the Historical Institute of the University of Warsaw, employee of the Department of Archival Research and Sources Editing at the Archive of the Institute of National Remembrance (Instytut Pamięci Narodowej) in Warsaw. He specializes in the history of Polish communist security apparatus, especially civilian intelligence. He is the author of a number of scientific studies and monograph Wywiad cywilny Polski Ludowej w latach 1945–1961 (Civilian Intelligence of the Polish People’s Republic in 1945–1961) (IPN, Warszawa 2017). In 2018, in Poland, he received a jury award in the Historical Book of the Year contest for this book. He is the main author of the source publication: Instrukcje i przepisy wywiadu cywilnego PRL z lat 1953–1990 (Instructions and Regulations of Civil Intelligence of the Polish People’s Republic in the years 1953–1990) (IPN, Warszawa 2020), co-editor (with Magdalena Dźwigał) of the biographical dictionary publishing series: Leksykon bezpieki. Kadra kierownicza aparatu bezpieczeństwa 1944–1956 (A lexicon of the security service. Security apparatus management staff 1944–1956), Volume I (IPN, Warszawa 2020), co-author (with a team of authors, resp. with Piotr Gontarczyk) of source publications entitled Stanisław Mikołajczyk w dokumentach aparatu bezpieczeństwa (Stanisław Mikołajczyk in the documents of the Security Apparatus) (IPN, Warszawa 2010), and Afera „Żelazo” w dokumentach MSW i PZPR (The “Iron” affair in documents of the Ministry of Interior and the Polish United Workers Party) (IPN, Warszawa 2013).

Contact: witold.bagienski@ipn.gov.pl

Igor Cașu, Ph.D., born 1973 – historian. A graduate (1995) and Ph.D. (2000) in Contemporary History at the “Alexandru Ioan Cuza” University of Iași, Romania, he works as a lecturer at the Faculty of History and Philosophy, State University of Moldova, Chișinău. Since 1998 he teaches courses in Contemporary World, European, and Moldovan/Romanian history. He specializes in Stalinism in Soviet Moldavia, and he is now working on a book on the postwar famine in Soviet Moldavia in the European context, in the years 1946–1947. His recent publications include studies The Fate of Stalinist Victims in Soviet Moldavia after 1953: Amnesty, Pardon and the Long Road to Rehabilitation in McDERMOTT, Kevin – STIBBE, Matthew (eds.): De-Stalinist Eastern Europe. The Rehabilitation of Stalin’s Victims (Palgrave Macmillan, New York 2015), The Purge of the Purgers in the Moldavian ASSR after the Great Terror in JUNGE, Marc – LYNNE, Viola – ROSSMAN, Jeffrey (eds.): Chekisty na sude. Sbornik statei (Chekists on Trial. A Collection of Essays) (Probel, Moscow 2017), and Exporting Soviet Revolution: Tatarbuniar Rebellion in Romanian Bessarabia (1924), in The International Journal of Security, Intelligence and Public Affairs, 2020, No. 3. In 2010 he served as vice chairman of the Presidential Commission for the Study and Evaluation of the Communist Totalitarian Regime in the Republic of Moldova (Comisia pentru studierea și aprecierea regim-ului comunist totalitar din Republica Moldova). In 2016 he was a Fulbright Scholar at Stanford University and Hoover Institution, giving talks on postwar famine in Soviet Moldavia at Toronto University, Yale, Harvard, and Stanford.

Contact: igorcasu@gmail.com

Dr. Aleš Gabrič, born 1963 – historian. He is a researcher at the Institute of Contemporary History (Inštitut za novejšo zgodovino) in Ljubljana. His main research fields of interest are Slovenian political history, cultural history, history of censorship, and history of education. Some of his more important publications are: Socialistična kulturna revolucija. Slovenska kulturna politika 1953–1962 (The Socialist Cultural Revolution. Slovenian Cultural Policy 1953–1962) (Cankarjeva založba, Ljubljana 1995), Šolska reforma 1953–1963 (The School Reform 1953–1963) (Inštitut za novejšo zgodovino, Ljubljana 2006), Slovenski zgodovinski atlas (Slovenian Historical Atlas) (Nova revija, Ljubljana 2011; co-author), and V senci politike. Opozicija komunistični oblasti v Sloveniji po letu 1945 (In the Shadow of Politics. Communist opposition in Slovenia after 1945) (Cankarjeva založba, Ljubljana 2019). He was also the editor of several miscellanies of scientific papers. From 2008 till 2020 he was the president of the National Committee for History at the general Matura Examination (Državna predmetna komisija za splošno maturo za zgodovino) and since 2018 he has been the president of Slovenska matica, the oldest cultural and scientific society in Slovenia.

Contact: ales.gabric@izn.si

Jiménez Herrera, F., born 1989 – historian. Doctor of History from the Complutense University of Madrid, he works as Research Support Personnel in the Departmental Section of Sociology IV of the Faculty of Education of the Complutense University of Madrid. He specializes in the history of violence and revolutionary processes during the Spanish Civil War. He is the author of several scientific studies including The coup fails, the revolution takes the streets. The revolutionary committees in the organization of the Madrid rearguard (summer-autumn 1936) in BRAVO, Gutmaro Gómez (ed.): Asedio. Historia de Madrid en la guerra civil (1936–1939) (Editorial Universidad Complutense, Madrid 2018), Vallecano Socialists before the coup d'état. The People's House of Puente de Vallecas and its Committee in the summer-autumn of 1936, in MORENO CANTANO, Antonio César (ed.): Checas: Miedo y odio en España durante la Guerra Civil. La voz de los testimonios en la Causa General (TREA, Madrid 2017), and Behind the "red terror" and Madrid committees during the summer-autumn of 1936 in OVIEDO SILVA, Daniel – PERÉZ OLIVARES, Alejandro (eds.): Madrid, Una ciudad en guerra (1936–1948) (La Catarata, Madrid 2016).

Contact: fernandojimenez@ucm.es

Mgr. Michal Miklovič, born 1979 – political scientist. He graduated in Political Science at the Faculty of Humanities, University of Trnava. Since 2005 he has been working at the Nation's Memory Institute (Ústav pamäti národa). He specializes in research of the organization and activities of the Main Intelligence Directorate of the Czechoslovak State Security with a special focus on its district sections in Slovak territory. He is also interested in process of reconciliation with the past and issues of political extremism. He has published studies on these topics in the journals Pamät' národa, Paměť a dějiny and in conference proceedings.

Contact: michal.miklovic@upn.gov.sk

Martin Previšić, Ph.D., born 1984 – historian. He is an assistant professor at the University of Zagreb, Department of History. He is also a lecturer at the Croatian Defence Academy “Dr Franjo Tuđman”. He specializes in the history of socialist Yugoslavia, modern Croatia and the international communist movement. He was a Fulbright fellow at Stanford University in 2019 and was awarded a fellowship in Israel (Yad Vashem International School for Holocaust Studies – Seminar for Holocaust Studies for Educators from Croatia and Slovenia, Jerusalem 2015). He is an author of the book Povijest Golog otoka (Fraktura, Zagreb 2019), and he co-edited (with Tvrtko Jakovina) proceeding The Tito-Stalin Split 70 Years After (FFpress, Zagreb – Ljubljana 2020). In 2020 he received a State prize for his book Povijest Golog otoka.

Contact: martinprevisic@gmail.com

Evgenia Lezina, Ph.D., – political scientist and historian. A graduate in Political Science at the Moscow School for the Social and Economic Sciences (with an M.A. degree from the University of Manchester), she currently works as a researcher at the Leibniz Centre for Contemporary History in Potsdam. Her research project there focuses on “The Soviet State Security's Political and Power Resources. KGB Structures, Practices and Methods in the Last Decade of the Soviet Union”. Between 2014 and 2018 she worked as a senior research fellow at the Socio-Political Department of the Analytical Centre of Yuri Levada (Levada Centre), an independent polling and sociological research institution in Moscow. As a visiting scholar she spent extended periods of time at the Imre Kertész Kolleg of the Friedrich Schiller University Jena (2016), the Federal Foundation for the Reappraisal of the SED-Dictatorship in Berlin (2012–2013) and at the Davis Center for Russian and Eurasian Studies, Harvard University, Cambridge, M.A. (2008). She received her Ph.D. in Political System and Institutional Change at the IMT Institute for Advanced Studies Lucca in 2010. Apart from the history of the Soviet secret police, her scientific interests concern democratic transformations in post-authoritarian and post-totalitarian societies, Transitional Justice measures, politics and cultures of history in post-communist Central and Eastern Europe. Her forthcoming book Prorabotka totalitarnogo proshlogo. Politika pamyati i perekhodnoye pravosuđiye kak instrumenty demokraticeskoi transformatsii (Working through the Totalitarian Past. Remembrance Politics and Transitional Justice as Tools for Democratic Transformation) will be published by the New Literary Observer, Moscow in 2021.

Contact: jane.lezina@gmail.com

Dr. Jens Gieseke, born 1964 – historian. A graduate in history and political science at the Universities of Hannover and Potsdam, he worked from 1993 to 2008 at the research department of the Federal Commissioner for the Stasi records (Der Bundesbeauftragte für die Unterlagen des Staatssicherheitsdienstes der ehemaligen Deutschen Demokratischen Republik, BStU) in Berlin. Since 2008 he has been working as a researcher and head of the “Communism and Society” department at the Leibniz-Centre for Contemporary History Potsdam, Germany. He specializes in the history of East Germany and the history of communist secret police forces. He is the author, co-author or editor, co-editor of some books, including Die Stasi 1945–1990 (Pantheon, Munich 2011) (translated into six languages, including Czech and English), Handbuch der kommunistischen Geheimdienste in Osteuropa, 1944–1991 (Vandenhoeck & Ruprecht, Göttingen 2008; co-editor with Krzysztof Persak and Łukasz Kamiński), The Silent Majority in Communist and Post-Communist States. Opinion Polling in Eastern and South-Eastern Europe (Peter Lang, Frankfurt/Main 2016; co-editor with Klaus Bachmann), and Communist Parties Revisited. Sociocultural Approaches to Party Rule in the Soviet Bloc, 1956–1991 (Berghahn, New York – Oxford 2018; co-editor with Rüdiger Bergien).

Contact: gieseke@zzf-potsdam.de

Mária Palasik, Ph.D., dr. habil., born 1957 – historian, head of the Research Department at the Historical Archives of the Hungarian State Security (Állambiztonsági Szolgálatok Történeti Levéltára, ÁBTL). She graduated at the Eötvös Loránd University in Budapest in 1980, and received her Ph.D. degree in history at the same university in 1995. She attained the degree of Doctor Habilitata from her alma mater in 2005. Her field of research is Hungarian History after World War II. She is author, and co-author of several books, presenter at scientific conferences and coordinator of scientific projects. Her important monographs are Chess Game for Democracy: Hungary between East and West in 1944–47 (McGill-Queen’s University Press, Montreal – Kingston 2011), Béla Kovács 1908–1958 (Occidental Press – Századvég, Budapest 2002), Félelemben zárt múlt. Politikai gyilkosságok Gyömrőn és környékén 1945-ben (A past closed in fear. Political murders in and around Gyömrő in 1945) (Napvilág, Budapest 2010), and Parlamentarizmustól a diktatúráig (1944–1949) (From Parliamentarism to Dictatorship /1944–1949/) (Országgyűlés Hivatala, Budapest 2017). With György Gyarmati she is co-editor of books Big Brother's Miserable Little Grocery Store (ÁBTL – L'Harmattan, Budapest 2012); Trójai faló a Belügyminisztériumban. Az ÁVH szervezete és vezérkara, 1953–1956 (Trojan horse in the Interior Ministry. Organization and General Staff of the ÁVH, 1953–1956) (ÁBTL – L'Harmattan, Budapest 2013), and with Imre Okváth of the book Epizódok a titkok házából: A politikai rendőrség mindennapjai 1956 után (ÁBTL – Kronosz, Budapest – Pécs 2017). The volume Continuities – Discontinuities: Secret Services after Stalin's Death in Communist Central and Eastern Europe (ÁBTL – Kronosz, Budapest – Pécs 2017) has been produced in international collaboration, and it was edited together with György Gyarmati. Her newest book, co-edited again with György Gyarmati is Honukban otthontalanok. Tanulmányok az 1951. évi budapesti kitelepítések történetéből (Homeless in their Homeland. Studies about the domestic deportation from Budapest in 1951) (ÁBTL – Kronosz, Budapest – Pécs 2018). She has been Jean Monnet Professor for European Studies since 2004.

Contact: palasik@abtl.hu

Éva Petrás, Ph.D., born 1968 – historian. As a graduate of history and English language at Pécs University, she received an M.A. degree in modern history at the Central European University in Budapest. She obtained her Ph.D. at the European University Institute in Florence in the department of History and Civilization in 2003. She works as a research fellow at the Committee of National Remembrance (Nemzeti Emlékezet Bizottságának Hivatala, NEBH) in Budapest. She specializes in church history, the history of Hungarian Christian Democracy and state security research. She is the author of a number of scientific studies and author or co-author of several books, including Splendid Return. The Intellectual Reception of the Catholic Social Doctrine in Hungary, 1931–1944 (Wesley János Lelkészképző Főiskola, Budapest 2011). Her latest monograph is Álarcok mögött. Nagy Töhötöm életei (Behind the Masks. The Lives of Töhötöm Nagy) (ÁBTL – Kronosz, Budapest – Pécs 2019). She is also an editor of comprehensive volumes, including the works of István Barankovics “Nem fényleni, hanem használni” – Barankovics István válogatott írásai az emigrációból (“To use, not to shine” – Selected writings of István Barankovics from his emigration (Barankovics István Alapítvány, Budapest 2020), and Béla Kovrig Katolikus demokratikus és szociális reformmozgalmak Magyarországon (Catholic Democratic and Social Reformatory Movements in Hungary) (Barankovics István Alapítvány, Budapest 2019).

Contact: mpetras.eva@gmail.com

Aigi Rahi-Tamm, Ph.D., born 1965 – historian. A graduate in History at the University of Tartu, she works as an Associate Professor of Archival Studies at the Institute of History and Archaeology (Ajaloo ja arheologia instituut), University of Tartu.

Her research interests have spanned from the 19th century Estonian national awakening movement to the end of the Estonian SSR and combine different fields of study political violence, study and interpretation of sources, analysis of political, social, and cultural processes during Sovietization. She is the author of two monographs – 1949. aasta märtsiküüditamine Tartu linnas ja maakonnas (Deportation of March 1949 in Tartu City and County) (Kleio, Tartu, 1998) and Teise maailmasõja järgsed massirepressioonid eestis: allikad ja uurimisseis (Mass Repressions in Estonia after World War II: Sources and the Current Status of Research) (Tartu Ülikooli kirjastus, Tartu 2004) and several articles.

Contact: aigi.rahi-tamm@ut.ee

Meelis Saueauk, Ph.D., born 1971 – historian. A graduate in History at the University of Tartu, he works as a senior researcher and editor at the Estonian Institute of Historical Memory (Eesti Mälu Instituut). His main research topics include: Stalinism, political history, intelligence and counter-intelligence agencies in the Baltic Sea region. He is the author of monograph Propaganda ja terror: nõukogude julgeolekuorganid ja Eestimaa Kommunistlik Partei Eesti sovetiseerimisel 1944–1953 (Propaganda and Terror. Soviet State Security Organs and the Estonian Communist Party in Sovietizing Estonia in 1944–1953) (Kirjastus SE & JS, Tallinn 2015), and author or co-author of several articles.

Contact: meelis.saueauk@mnemosyne.ee